Expense Reporting Synchronization

When the corporate expense system fails to sync recent transactions from the company-issued credit card, the API token between the card provider and the reporting dashboard has expired. The employee must log into the expense portal, navigate to 'Linked Accounts', completely unlink the corporate card, and immediately relink it. The transaction ledger requires a 24-hour batch processing window to backfill missing expenses.

Flight Booking Platform Lockout

If an employee receives a "Profile Unverified" error when attempting to book flights on the Concur Travel portal, their TSA PreCheck or passport data has failed validation. The user must not attempt to force the booking, as it will flag the corporate card for fraud. They must open their Concur profile, delete the existing identification numbers, manually re-type them, and click 'Force Sync'. Wait 5 minutes before attempting to search for flights again.

Per Diem Reimbursement Rejections

If a submitted expense report is flagged as "Per Diem Exceeded" and returned to the employee, it means the automated system detected a daily meal expense higher than the regional allowance. To bypass this for client-approved dinners, the employee must amend the specific line item, change the category from 'Individual Meals' to 'Client Entertainment', and upload a secondary PDF receipt explicitly listing the attending client names. The report will then route to the finance director for manual review.
